Story:

Telling Our Past, Living in the Present,
Hope of Our Future with Jesus

A Story is a character who wants something and overcomes conflict to get it.

How do you know if you are choosing to engage the right conflicts?

Our world is full of conflict that surrounds us and often affects our stories. So many of these conflicts seem to tug and pull us away from our stories to the point that we may not even be going in the direction we wanted our story to go. If we aren't careful, these conflicts change the course of our lives for the worse and create great harm to others who care deeply for us.

So, how do you know if you are engaging the right conflicts so that your story is heading in the direction that brings hope and freedom in your life? I believe the answer has to do with knowing what you want. Today, we are going to explore how to know what conflicts to engage in and what conflicts are merely distractions that we need to disengage. May our desire to be in God's story direct us and give us hope to live great stories with our lives in God's Kingdom!
